Church Cleaning

Keeping the church clean is a role which is often overlooked.

If nobody reads the Gospel or leads intercessory prayers, it will immediately be noticed. But if nobody cleans the church, it might not be noticed at first but, over time, the church will feel less welcoming.

A clean, well-maintained church helps worshippers focus on their spiritual connection without distractions. Dust, clutter, or grime can detract from the atmosphere, while a spotless space fosters peace, serenity, and deeper reflection.

Please consider joining the cleaning rota. As with all of the volunteer roles, the more volunteers we have, the less often each volunteer will have to do it.

It is anticipated that the duties for each week should take 2 people about an hour and you can do it at a time that suits you, as long as the church is not in use.

If you are willing to join the cleaning rota, please contact Sue.
